National Research Council (NRC) 2138
2101 Constitution Ave., NW Phone: (202)334-2100
Washington, DC 20418 Fax: (202)334-1597
Bruce Alberts, Chairman

Organizational Notes: Founded: 1916. NRC is governed by a 13-member board made up of members of the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Engineering, and the Institute of Medicine. The Governing Board approves each project and annually reviews the programs and budget of each of the Council's eleven divisions. After project approval, committees are assembled to conduct the work and project results are reviewed by an independent group to validate the findings. Staff: Approximately 650 professional staff; 9000 scientists, engineers, and other professionals volunteer for service on NRC committees.

Research Activities and Fields: Council is the working arm of the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering, carrying out most of the studies done in the Academies' names. The majority of the Council's work is done in response to specific questions from federal agencies or Congress. Occasionally some research is conducted in conjunction with philanthropic foundations, and NRC does initiate studies which it considers to be of national importance (these are funded through unrestricted grants from industry and private foundations and income from the Academies' endowments). Activities are carried out in twelve divisions: Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education; Commission on Engineering and Technical Systems; Commission on Geosciences, Environment, and Resources; Commission on Life Sciences; Commission on Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Applications; Office of International Affairs; Office of Scientific and Engineering Personnel; Board on Agriculture; Mathematical Sciences Education Board; Board on Science, Technology and Economic Policy; Strategic Highway Research Program; and Transportation Research Board. Advice from the NRC may take many forms: early warnings of potential concerns, proposals to solve problems and set priorities, guidance in planning and policy formation, evaluation of programs, assessment of risks and benefits, and encouragement of the health and progress of the scientific disciplines.

Publications and Services: Most committee projects result in formal reports. All NRC reports, except a limited number on defense topics that are classified, are made public. New studies and publications are announced monthly in News Report, which is available upon request from the Office of Public Affairs. Information on reports and other publications may be obtained from the National Academy Press.
