SESSION SUMMARY

SG1J

SESSION: 23 FEB 88, 0845-0947

011

There is a tall, modern-looking building located in a large city. It has a circular blacktop driveway in front of the main entrance. At least one side of this building appears to be faced with a coated glass. This glass reminds me of a two-way mirror. At the main entrance is a covered portico with a number of flags attached, like flags of different nations (AOL - like an international hotel) (see sketch, page 4). I see people arriving here in limosines and wearing expensive clothing, both male and female. These people are definitely "upper crust" and seem to represent a number of nationalities.

There is a key person who has an office in, or at least works out of this building. This individual is tall, has an average build, greying hair and is very distinguished looking. He appears much younger than his age of 45-50 years. He is a very pleasant, diplomatic person who is quite used to moving around in very high circles. He comes across as somewhat of a salesman, or "company" representative. His job is to convince other people that his product, company, or "policy" is the best. At this particular time he is wearing a grey-brown suit with a red or maroon tie and brown shoes.

Although unable to pin-point the location of this target area, the climate here is very pleasant at this time of year (AOL - like Mexico or Hawaii).
