SG1J 7/26 (1)

JTF-5 [redacted]

- Would be more useful if good briefs to all analysts (from a security viewpoint)
- Primary use: Individuals in eastern Pacific, dynamics of organizations (Palestine, Afganistan)
  Aligned by SW-Asia, SE Asia re heroin.

[Also

- AL came out at briefed (w/Mickey), reinvigorated interest.
- Think its a legitimate alternate source of information.
- Asked each desk analyst to structure requests for AV. Then evaluate inputs.
- Dropped earlier because no feedback mechanism had existed I believe that frequently no response was received from program. Frequent interaction between Chiefs of AL helped to keep program alive.
- Tasking - re people, objects (physis), some [illegible] geographical areas.
  Very specific targets

- RV reports fairly consistent in identifying the nature of the target, i.e., person or thing, but not always.
- After some testing to develop confidence in process - would fold info into general intelligence.

SG1J - [redacted] was aware of Soviet activities - not as skeptical as others, so needed to develop some confidence with his analysts.

- provided specifics in some instances re "associates", "activities"
- did not task field collection due to security restrictions on program
- could not use info in real-time sense for operational purposes; because:
  - not timely enough

- best info when asking for historical info (in terms of accuracy), time sensitive requests not so good.
- used info to fill in blanks from other sources - try to sort out wheat from chaff in terms of [redacted] order with drug organizations

- analysts are [redacted] told them about program. told them to evaluate info, ignore personal beliefs and the objective

SG1J

- [redacted] did some of evaluations but ~~some~~ about 6 people did most - All evals done by a ~~specific~~ individual, not by a group.
- ~~Has~~ If got into corresponding ~~info~~ to RV data, would ask add'l questions of RV - but usually add'l info was not corroborated.
- Cites a case of info provided by RV on an individual in Pakistan was corroborated as very accurate.
- Use info as an 'alternative' source. ~~relied~~ relied on only when it was only source of info
- did not task anything as result of sole-RV info, evidence of credibility to do these.
- all reports had some accurate info, e.g. but seems drawn into (knowing the source of the questions) was considered accurate [redacted] seemed to assume that RV knew who was doing tasking)

(4)

- [redacted] [illegible] to provide detailed, specific data - he was satisfied with the type of info they (RV) could provide. Seems to accept any specific info as "probably accurate" - RV feed into the data base could as one more piece of uncertified intelligence.
- Data made contributions to "target packages" - but no real audit trail of value or contribution of the data. No attempt ever made to do a joint correlation of data provided versus other
- Would like to see program continued, more formalized.
- Afraid that direct involvement of RV would ~~boost~~ lose their objectivity.
- To integrate into org they would have to be legitimized ~~in regulable~~ in some way otherwise they ~~would~~ would be made fun of, etc.
- Would be willing to pay for RV info if had to give up source like, e.g., [illegible] but selling up the ~~three~~ line would be difficult due to [illegible] above.
