MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: TDY AT SRI

1. Upon arrival at the institute an orientation briefing was given which included several suggestions that are designed to optimize the likelihood of success.

- a. Be well rested and as free as possible from any "pressing" matters.
- b. Try not to modify your daily normal routine.
- c. To keep in mind that there is no special "induction" procedure that will be required.

2. The five-day work schedule is outlined as follows:

TIME	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI
0930-1200	Orientation Briefing	Session	Session	Session	Session
1200-1400	LUNCH	LUNCH	LUNCH	LUNCH	LUNCH
1400-1630	Session	Rest Period	Mid-Week Assessment	Session	De-Briefing

3. The protocol during the sessions varied only slightly from protocol we have been using. There was no quiet period prior to target time. This lack of quiet time did not seem to affect the outcome of the sessions. Out of six sessions, five appeared successful and one appeared to be a complete miss. In-depth analysis and evaluation, by the Institute, of the six sessions will be forthcoming.

→ 4. The overall environment and atmosphere was one of informality and relaxation, both on the job and off. It was nice to leave all the petty hassels behind and concentrate solely on the activity of viewing.

→ 5. I do not feel that these sessions were of any value as a training vehicle, but the exchange of information and new ideas, along with the reenforcement of being able to perform in a high level, controlled environment was a success and a valuable experience.
