SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

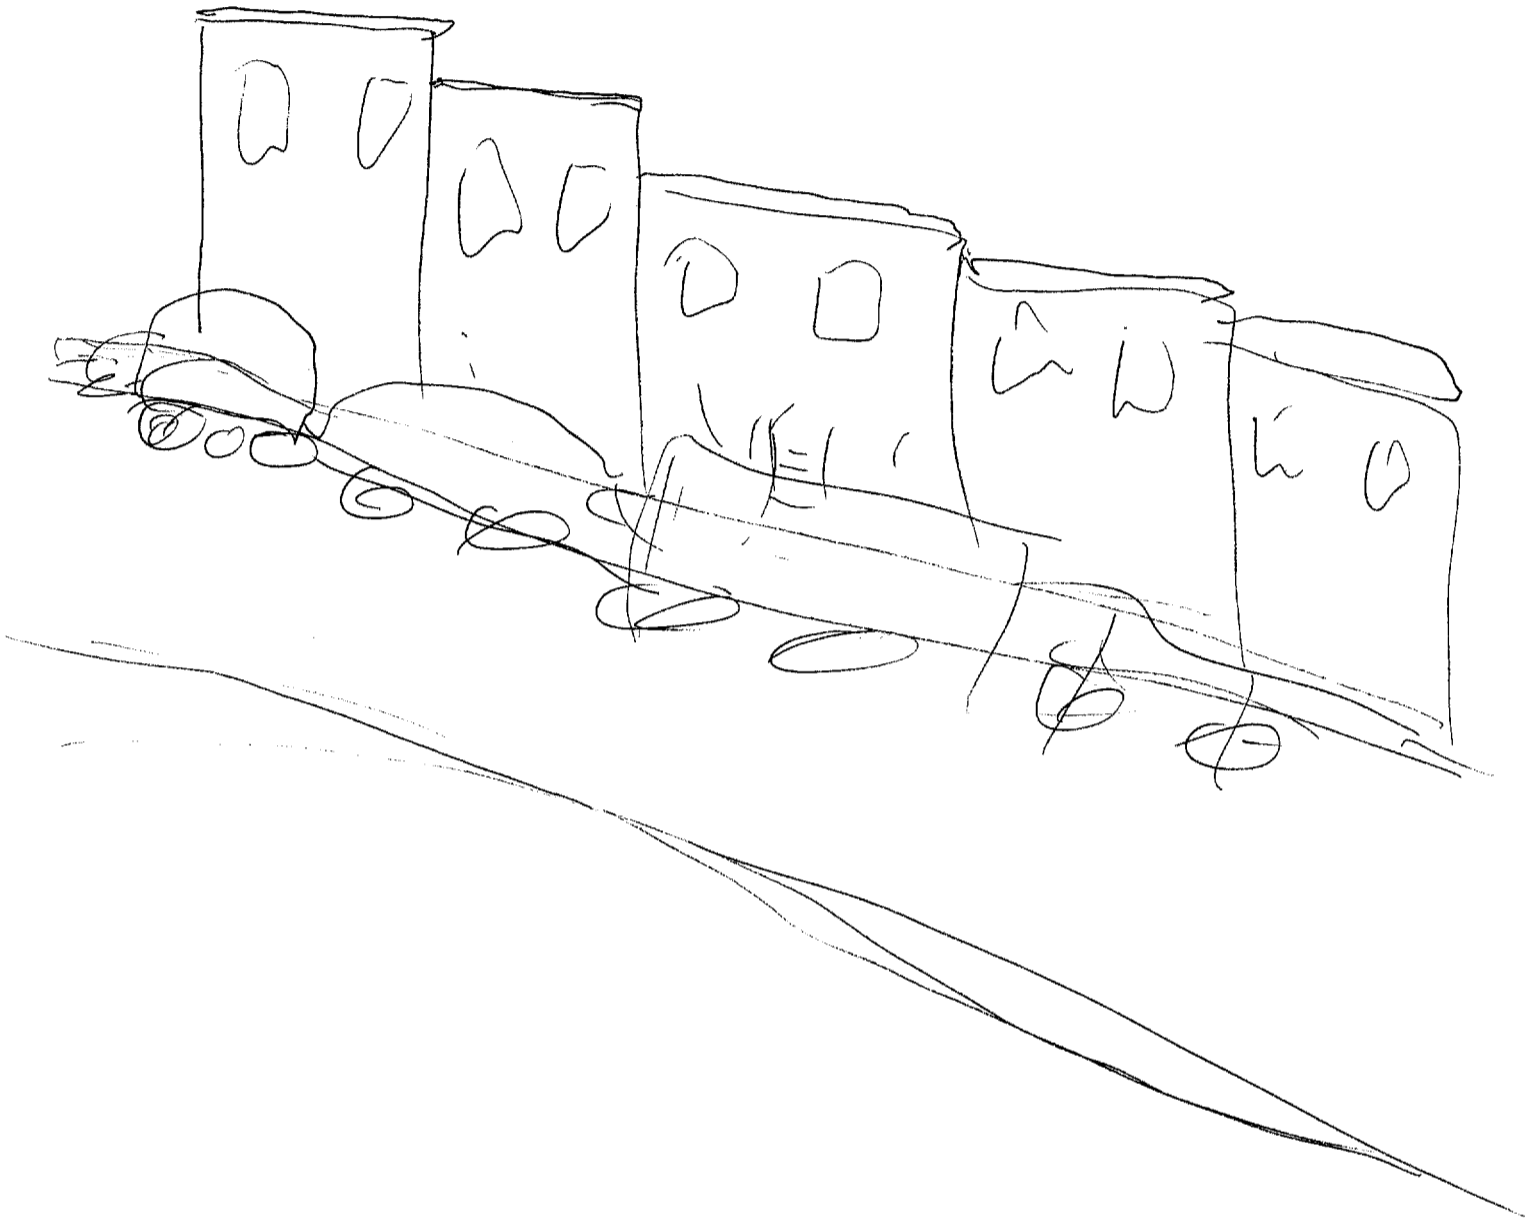

The session started with the sensation of pulling off of a busy, hustle-bustley road for a brief interlude. The site was a wooded area with a T-shaped, man-defined, path/walkway. This place is an oasis/rest area in the middle of an extensive urban/developed area. Overhead, flying effortlessly and lazily was a large bird reminiscent of an osprey. Sounds included distant traffic noises and a deep, throaty, elongated sound reminiscent of a low-toned, church bell. The area in the immediate vicinity of the path and woods was level but nearby were several hills. Visible on one of the slopes were a series of closely spaced, flat-topped structures with cars parked in front. See sketches.
