2. (S/NF/SK) Cuing: "Return to previous site and move to "area D". Later in session, "Move to Area C".

3. (S/NF/SK) Results:

a. AREA "D": The first impression of area "D" was of construction, surrounded by tall buildings. One building in particular drew my attention. It is a grey, three story structure (see sketch, page 2). Within this structure is the office of the Director of the "working areas" of the complex. Both the secretary and the director were accessed mentally, and the following EEI was learned:

- 1) Other than his office, Area "D" is not under his control.
- 2) Area "D" contains "people work": i.e. admin, politics, some living/guest quarters, "go-fer offices", political aspects, etc.
- 3) Both accessed persons felt that the "real purpose" of the entire complex was "out there, in the other areas". (See attached FIG 1., overhead photo for a deliniation of the areas this director controls.)
- 4) When asked what the purpose for this complex was, a myriad of answers were given, mainly centering around manufacture, storage, etc. (See FIG 2., overhead photo, for comments on which parts of the complex generate feelings of the various purposes.)
- 5) When asked "for whom?", he answered, "For the government, for foreign governments, and for foreign companies."
- 6) When asked what his most important product was, he got a mental image of a rectangular grey package, and answered "explosive".
- 7) After the session was over (see below for impressions of Area "C"), a Stage 7 attempt was made to get the director's name (see worksheet, page BA). The result was "Sergey Dolonov" (1st syllable accented).
