SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

The site is a large, open, spacious area overlooking miles of winding convoluted swells (east to west) in the terrain with little water ways. A tree has a fur object hanging off a branch. A plane was flying overhead and it is currently cold at the site. The activity of intelligence interest is elint related. Electrical energy travels through wired cords and is then interpreted. A meter with a needle and light extension gages the process of movement. People are at the site.
