B6

I'm sure you know about this but w the full schpiel below.

In a documentary airing tomorrow at 10:00 PM EST on MSNBC, Chris Matthews calls President Clinton a one-man Peace Corps.

Though I know he's far too humble to ever say that himself, President Clinton's work the past 10 years has been remarkable.

From his life-changing work with the Clinton Foundation and his disaster relief efforts for the Indian Ocean Tsunami, Hurricane Katrina and the Haiti earthquake, to his humanitarian actions to free two journalists from North Korea and the convening power of the Clinton Global Initiative that brings together businesses, governments, nonprofits, and individuals to implement real solutions to the world's most urgent challenges -- his work today is directly improving hundreds of millions of lives. It is not a stretch to say what he has accomplished with friends and supporters like you is truly changing the world.

And I know this is just the beginning of what we can do.

This President's Day, there will be a special documentary -- The President of the World: The Bill Clinton Phenomenon, Monday, 10:00 PM EST on MSNBC <<http://whatcounts.com/t?r=1925-2499986=56657=3541516:C0D97B57DCF68E4CFC5E233FC1C79406A60E1DDBD01ECB9D>>, about the 10 years since President Clinton left office. At the Clinton Foundation, we are celebrating his last 10 years as a private citizen with a Decade of Difference

<<http://whatcounts.com/t?r=1925=2499986=56657=3541515:C0D97B57DCF68E4CFC5E233FC1C79406A60E1DDBD01ECB9D>> . I hope you will join us and see the role you have played in President Clinton's work during the last 10 years.

When: 10:00 PM EST, Monday, February 21, 2011
Where: MSNBC, Hardball with Chris Matthews
What: President of the World: The Bill Clinton Phenomenon

Thank you again for all your support. I look forward to what we can accomplish together in the next 10 years.
