and they have contacted their Congressman who is attempting to get State Department help for the family. I don't have any idea how much clout this gentleman has – just because I've never heard of him doesn't mean others haven't. All of that to say, do you have any pull or any suggestions how to get State quickly involved? I don't know how responsive they are to such issues, or how many lower-level folks you have to plow through to get to someone who can make things happen.
