Wanted you to know that I was in a small mtg this morning with Nick Kristof to talk about how his book (working title; "half the sky" to be released) addresses global women's issues. I talked about your role over the years as a way to explain Vital Voices, and to reinforce with him what you've done. So I said that these issues are very important to you and they can expect that you will continue to make a significant difference. It was all interesting

This email is from our ambassador to Ukraine. He is one of the best. He worked with us on aid to former soviet union throughout the clinton years.
