Very good news! And pls tell Ken I love him even more! I'd rather sit w other diners but at a table set off as much as the room permits--that's more festive and we can watch the sun set and the sky turn purple! (That's three exclamation points which is my daily absolute maximum). Love to all--H

Ken changed his plans and will leave for Ireland on Sunday night so that he can sit next to you at dinner on Saturday night!

Also, Carey (Richard's wife) called to tell me that the chef's table is booked so our choices are to be with other diners or to eat in the wine cellar and have total privacy. I see the pros and cons of each so am asking for your opinion. Now, isn't this a day at the beach to weigh in on a matter like this one while you are making monumental decisions with impact on the entire world?

Also, I will email Hanna but just an fyi,

xxoo,
Jill
