Subject: Recommendation to Secretary Clinton

Dear Hillary:

I would like to recommend [redacted] as part of your new leadership team at State. [redacted] told me of three roles in which he is very interested, and I strongly commend him as superbly-qualified for all of them:

* Under Secretary of State for Management -- where his understanding of large organizations, track record of management innovations, and business and Army experience would be especially useful to you;

* Ambassador-at-Large for Partnerships -- where his large network of relationships from McKinsey, BCG, Harvard Business School and elsewhere, and his skills in forging alliances with leaders in business and non-profits, would leverage your "smart power" agenda;

* Chief of Mission -- [redacted] are among the most international and cosmopolitan people I know, and they could represent you and the President with great effectiveness anywhere, especially in the dozen countries where he has worked and several where they have lived.

I've attached [redacted]'s resume, covering a remarkable 40-year career, in case you have not seen it. I saw him in action when he was [redacted] and set up the [redacted] has been an outstanding success, due largely to [redacted]'s vision, tenacity and diplomacy in building support for the program across many constituencies. He is known throughout the Army and DoD for creating this signature program of the Clinton Administration, and he could bring the same capabilities to your team at State.

I know that [redacted] was active in supporting your campaign as well as the Obama Campaign and would have the full support of the [redacted] Congressional delegation and many others in any appointment.
