Nora, if you could make sure Cheryl sees this at some point when she has a moment

Cheryl, this is a unique moment in time for you to be a more public face of the USG and State Department. There are many options and ways - everything from you standing behind the podium, to doing radio to a conference call, or an email to Embassy staff - for you to reinforce what we have discussed over the last year: that you are playing an important and substantive role at State, not just an enforcer.

Nora, please bear this in mind in the coming days, as well as keeping track of color for Lois Romano
