It is beautiful in queens too!

I texted with mario who said he will stay in touch with us on flights. He's a little worried about this afternoon but nothing known for sure yet.

It snowed a lot overnight ay my house and is still coming down so I think we will have to check on the shuttles during the day and also reserve on the later ones tonight and the 6 or 7am tomorrow as we learn more thruout the day. We should also look at the train just in case. It is however very beautiful!
