

RELEASE IN PART B6

Re:

From: Tamera Luzzatto tamera_luzzatto@clinton.senate.gov

To: Maggie Williams [redacted] Hillary Clinton hr15@att.blackberry.net; habedin [redacted]
[redacted]

B6

Subject: Re:

Thanks. On my end, it feels that Robby and his work to get direction from those calling the shots and catch up on the Senate staff will be a good way to help those staff as much as possible. As I have said in various ways, most staff have a "healthy" pessimism or realism abt how limited or remote their odds are to end up at State, but from what I glean from all of you, there are some of real interest and I certainly there are some with particular talents and a basis for truly considering them. So I am eager to work on the next steps and it'll be a better environment with our new Senator able to hire a bunch of staff.

From: williamsbarret [redacted]
To: hr15@att.blackberry.net ; Luzzatto, Tamera (Clinton); habedin [redacted]
Cc: cmills [redacted]
Sent: Sun Jan 25 17:53:02 2009
Subject:

I have just read a great e-mail from Robby letting me know that all of you met to review and prioritize the Senate staff list. I am assuming there may be different priorities than those which I discussed and helped to develop in December and January. I think some of the senior people on the senate staff benefited from that initial thinking and have either found places or know they are in the mix -- and know what mix they are in.

Nevertheless, I have not been able to give a high priority to the Senate placements over the last couple of weeks given the press of other Hillary business on every front and the need to tend to my consulting business. So to avoid any duplication of effort and allow the Senate placements to go forward as rapidly as possible I am removing myself from any engagement on Senate personnel matters - with the exception of those people I have spoken to personally. I will update Robby when I see him Tuesday on these folks.

Which stars will make the biggest headlines in 2009? Get Hollywood news, celebrity photos and more with the PopEater Toolbar