let me work on it and revert.

Cheryl, when it became clear that HRC wouldn't be available to speak to the Brookings board dinner on June 5, we left it that I might come back to you about her doing so at our fall board meeting, which is November 15. That will, of course, be a week-plus after the election. There's some symmetry (or maybe irony) in that. The last time she spoke to the Brookings board was immediately after the 2008 election (she was, of course, off-the-charts terrific). I'd very much like have her once during her tenure at State, and the November 15 meeting will be the last chance. I realize it's wildly early from a scheduling standpoint, but I did want to get in a bid now. Any advice on how we keep this possibility alive?

Cheers, Strobe
