Oh yeah - that's what we were supposed to talk about! #1 is great, she'll love it. You don't need to tell anyone though, you can just hand out whatever it is on their way in.

But when Brock told me #2, I kinda recoiled. Would have been hysterical for when Texts with Hillary was rabid. Not exactly sure the shades convey anything here. Didn't make sense to me.

Let me mull and see if I come up with anything better. Will probably take until the morning as these things usually come to me in the shower.

I asked Brock to share with you two thoughts Tom has after the 8:45am to mark HRC's return to office: 1) that we should do something nice/special for her and 2) perhaps we could have everyone get preset for the 9:15am and have them all wearing dark shades. To do that well, we'd need to get an email out to folks and be convinced she was coming in.

i asked Brock to ask you what ideas if any you might have as alternative as this is one of your many talents.

Any thoughts anyone or just leave it be?
