to the President, a	e new alliances in the WH and steadily made the pretty stark case about how this would be a lost opportunity nd he moved in the right direction. The President was asked to make real decisions today and he did. That undone. Not impossible, but hard. To be clear, where we've ended up is not perfect by any stretch, just a week ago.
offices. But really,	e of developing the specifics of the hc plan for the WH health care team, which includes all the key there's a LOT of bureaucratic warfare happening, so who knows how long this will last. Someone could finew play next week.
