Sib, just received this.

In addition to the 12 Feb demonstrations in Algiers, there will be demonstrations in Tripoli and other Libyan cities on 17 February. There have also been anti-government/corruption demonstrations in Sudan. The Islamists are holding back in all of these places with idea that they can come in after a period of time. They believe that it is in their interest to let the governments and pro-democracy demonstrators bear the brunt of the struggle and they can come in as an organized opposition force.
