Dear Requester:

This is the final response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request, originally received by the United States Secret Service (Secret Service) on October 5, 2023, for information pertaining to a copy of records (which includes videos/photos), electronic or otherwise, pertaining "Commander" – the dog who lives in the White House, including, but do not limit to, all memos, letters, reports, photographs, videos, and emails pertaining to "Commander" and the biting incidents.

After a detailed review of all potentially responsive records, 222 pages were released and 0 pages were withheld in their entirety. After considering the "Foreseeable Harm" standard, outlined in Title 5 U.S.C § 552(a)(8)(A)(i) and Department of Justice guidance, exemptions under FOIA Statute Title 5 U.S.C. § 552, and/or the PA Statute Title 5 U.S.C. § 552a, have been applied where deemed appropriate.

Enclosed are the documents responsive to your request, as well as a document that explains the exemptions in more detail. Withheld information is pursuant to the exemptions marked below.

Section 552 (FOIA)

(b) (1)	(b) (2)	(b) (3) Statute:
(b) (4)	(b) (5)	(b) (6)	(b) (7) (A)	(b) (7) (B)
(b) (7) (C)	(b) (7) (D)	(b) (7) (E)	(b) (7) (F)	(b) (8)

Please be advised, in the processing of this FOIA request, no fees are being assessed.

If you deem our decision an adverse determination, you may exercise your appeal rights. Should you wish to file an administrative appeal, your appeal should be made in writing and received within ninety (90) days of the date of this letter, by writing to: Freedom of Information Appeal, Deputy Director, U.S. Secret Service, Communications Center, 245 Murray Lane, S.W., Building T-5, Washington, D.C. 20223. If you choose to file an administrative appeal, please explain the basis of your appeal and reference the case number listed above.

Additionally, you have the right to seek dispute resolution services from the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) which mediates disputes between FOIA requesters and Federal agencies as a non-exclusive alternative to litigation. Please note that contacting the Secret Service's FOIA Program and/or OGIS is not an alternative to filing an administrative appeal and does not stop the 90-day appeal clock. You may contact OGIS at: Office of Government Information Services, National Archives and Records Administration, 8601 Adelphi Road-OGIS, College Park, Maryland 20740-6001. You may also reach OGIS via e-mail at ogis@nara.gov, telephone at 202-741-5770/toll free at (877) 684-6448, or facsimile at (202) 741-5769.

If you need any further assistance, or would like to discuss any aspect of your request, please contact our FOIA Public Liaison Kevin Tyrrell, at (202) 220-1819. Alternatively, you may send an email to foia@uss.dhs.gov.

FOIA File No. 20240012 is assigned to your request. Please refer to this file number in all future communication with this office.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Kevin L. Tyrrell". The signature is written in a cursive, slightly slanted style.

FOIA and Privacy Act Exemption List

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT
SUBSECTIONS OF TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE, SECTION 552

Provisions of the Freedom of Information Act do not apply to matters that are:

- (b) (1) (A) specifically authorized under criteria established by an Executive Order to be kept Secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy; and (B) are in fact properly classified pursuant to such Executive Order;
- (b) (2) related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of any agency;
- (b) (3) specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (other than section 552b of this title), if that statute: (A)(i) requires that the matters be withheld from the public in such a manner as to leave no discretion on the issue, or (ii) establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of matters to be withheld; and (B) is enacted after the date of enactment of the OPEN FOIA Act of 2009;
- (b) (4) trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and is privileged or confidential;
- (b) (5) inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency; provided that the deliberative process privilege shall not apply to records created 25 years or more before the date on which the records were requested;
- (b) (6) personnel files and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy;
- (b) (7) records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, but only to the extent that the information: (A) could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings; (B) would deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication; (C) could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy; (D) could reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of a confidential source, including a State, local, foreign agency or authority, or any private institution that furnished information on a confidential basis, and/or when records/information compiled by a criminal law enforcement authority in the course of a criminal investigation, or by an agency conducting a lawful national security intelligence investigation, information furnished by a confidential source; (E) would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law; (F) could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of any individual;
- (b) (8) contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of an agency responsible for regulation or supervision of financial institutions; and
- (b) (9) geological and geophysical information and data, including maps, concerning wells.

PRIVACY ACT
SUBSECTIONS OF TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE, SECTION 552a

The provisions of the Privacy Act do not apply to:

- (d) (5) material compiled in reasonable anticipation of a civil action or proceeding;
- (j) (2) material reporting investigative efforts pertaining to enforcement of criminal law including efforts to prevent, control, or reduce crime or apprehend criminals;
- (k)(1) material that is currently and properly classified pursuant to an Executive Order in the interest of national defense or foreign policy;
- (k) (2) material compiled during investigations for law enforcement purposes (with certain exemptions);
- (k) (3) material maintained in connection with providing protective services to the President of the United States or other individuals pursuant to section 3056 of Title 18;
- (k) (5) investigatory material compiled solely for the purpose of determining suitability, eligibility, or qualifications for Federal civilian employment, military service, Federal contracts, or for access to classified information, but only to the extent that the disclosure of such material would reveal the identity of the person who furnished information to the Government under an express promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence, or prior to September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence; and
- (k) (6) testing or examination material used solely to determine individual qualifications for appointment or promotion in the Federal service-the disclosure of which would compromise the objectivity or fairness of the testing or examination process.

Good evening.

Please see the attached write up from SA (b) (6), (b) (7)(C) regarding the Commander incident tonight. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

POTUS took Commander (on a leash) to the Kennedy Garden this evening for a walk. While POTUS and Commander were in the Kennedy Garden I was standing half way from the Book-Sellers and the Family Theater. POTUS opened the Book-Seller door and said (b) (6), (b) (7)(C). As I started to walk toward him to see if he needed help, Commander ran through his legs and bit my left arm through the front of my jacket. I pulled my arm away and yelled no. POTUS also yelled (b) (6), (b) (7)(C) to Commander. POTUS then (b) (6), (b) (7)(C). I obliged and Commander let me pet him. When turning to close the door, Commander jumped again and bit my left arm for the second time. POTUS again yelled at Commander and attached the leash to him. My suit coat has 3 holes, 1 being all the way through. No skin was broken.

Hi (b) (6), (b) (7)(C)

Everything is well, thank you!

Yes, I would definitely need to patch your suit in order to properly cover up/repair the holes.

Hope all else is well!

Thank you,

Hi (b) (6), (b) (7)(C)

Patching the suit will not be adequate and will be very difficult to match the original color. Even then, the patch will not look seamless. The only real solution is to replace the suit.

Thank you and please let me know if you have any questions.

Hi (b) (6), (b) (7)(C)

Patching the suit will not be adequate and will be very difficult to match the original color. Even then, the patch will not look seamless. The only real solution is to replace the suit.

Thank you and please let me know if you have any questions.

Guys,

FYSA. This is email 1 of 2. These are the clothing reimbursement requests from (b) (6), (b) (7)(C)

I will review on Monday. I need to familiarize myself with the policy. I do recall numerous revision and submissions the last time (b) (6), (b) (7)(C) sought reimbursement.

Hi (b) (6), (b) (7)(C)

Patching the suit will not be adequate and will be very difficult to match the original color. Even then, the patch will not look seamless. The only real solution is to replace the suit.

Thank you and please let me know if you have any questions.

Good morning,

Checking to see if you are able to confirm that a uniformed female USSS officer was hospitalized for a biting incident with Commander Biden last night. Do you have any additional details on the incident you can share, how the officer is doing, the extent of her injuries, or any other context we should have?

Many thanks,

Hope you're well! We're looking for a statement and/or comment regarding President Biden's dog, Commander, biting a US Secret Service agent at the White House Monday.

Additionally, can you confirm that Commander has been involved in at least 11 biting incidents at the White House and in Delaware?

Hi there,

Hope you're well! We're looking for a statement and/or comment regarding President Biden's dog, Commander, biting a US Secret Service agent at the White House Monday.

Additionally, can you confirm that Commander has been involved in at least 11 biting incidents at the White House and in Delaware?

Thank you!

Good afternoon,

Can the Secret Service comment on the report that President Biden's dog bit a Secret Service agent on Monday night? Would appreciate any information you can provide on that topic.

I emailed Mr. Guglielmi this same message about half an hour ago but haven't heard back.

Thanks,

Hi Anthony,

I wanted to let you know that I just submitted a FOIA for a memo that I understand was written by an agent about 37 biting incidents combined between Commander and Major. I'm not sure if that is something you have and could share with me, in which case I could retract my request for the record, but I wanted to let you know either way.

PS- I'm moving from our White House to Campaign teams at the Post so you will likely hear from me less often, but it has been great to work with you for the short time I was covering the WH. Thanks for your help with everything.

According to Judicial Watch, Secret service records reveal 10 attacks -- before Monday's incident -- by Commander over a four-month period between October 2022 and January. Judicial Watch forced the release of the records through a Freedom of Information Act lawsuit, regarding "incidents of aggression and bites involving the Biden family dog, Commander."

In October, a Secret Service agent warned colleagues about Commander in an email.

"Commander has been exhibiting extremely aggressive behavior. Today, while posted, he came charging at me. The first lady couldn't regain control of Commander and he continued to circle me. I believe it's only a matter of time before an agent/officer is attacked or bit," the agent wrote on Oct. 26.

One week later, an agent was transported to the hospital after Commander bit him in the upper right arm and on the thigh. The officer was placed on "restricted duty status" for three days on doctors' advice.

In December, a Secret Service agent said he was attacked on the South Lawn of the White House after President Biden let Commander off his leash.

"The injuries included a bite to the left forearm, resulting in bruising, and approximately a 1.5 cm cut and a bite to the right hand on the thumb resulting in a 1 cm cut. I received treatment from White House Medical," the agent said before returning to work the rest of his shift.

Hi there,

CNN reported on Tuesday that Joe Biden's dog Commander bit a Secret Service agent—the eleventh reported incident involving the pet. I wondered if the Secret Service could confirm this was the case and provide any statement on the matter.

The news has prompted seemingly unfounded speculation on social media that it was responding to canine intuition about the agency's loyalties to the president. Some prominent social media users referenced the deletion of agents' texts from the time of the January 6 uprising, while Lindy Li, a political commentator and Democratic advisor, appeared to allege that the dog was going after "J6 insurrectionists." I also wanted to give the agency the opportunity to comment on these remarks.

Kind regards,
Aleks

Commander Biden bites another Secret Service agent, the 11th known incident

By Betsy Klein, CNN, 09.26.23

Jo

CNN —

President Joe Biden's younger dog, Commander, bit another US Secret Service agent at the White House Monday evening, CNN has learned, the 11th known biting incident involving the 2-year-old German Shepherd.

"Yesterday around 8 p.m., a Secret Service Uniformed Division police officer came in contact with a First Family pet and was bitten. The officer was treated by medical personnel on complex," USSS chief of communications Anthony Guglielmi told CNN in a statement.

The injured officer spoke with Secret Service Director Kimberly Cheatle on Tuesday and is doing OK, Guglielmi said.

Commander has been involved in at least 11 biting incidents at the White House and in Delaware, according to CNN reporting and US Secret Service email correspondence, including a November 2022 incident where an officer was hospitalized after the dog clamped down on their arms and thighs.

White House officials said in July that the Bidens were working through new training and leashing protocols for the family pet following the incidents.

The office of the first lady did not immediately respond to CNN's request for comment Tuesday on whether that training had taken place or if any further action would be sought.

Another of Biden's dogs, Major, was involved in biting incidents at the White House. The German Shepherd later moved out of the White House, and Commander arrived at the White House in 2021.

The July email correspondence, obtained through Freedom of Information Act requests by the conservative group Judicial Watch, reflected 10 incidents.

In one incident in October, first lady Dr. Jill Biden "couldn't regain control" of the dog as it charged a member of Secret Service staff.

"I believe it's only a matter of time before an agent/officer is attacked or bit," the staff member warned in an email.

Elizabeth Alexander, communications director for the first lady, said at the time that the first family has been "partnering with the Secret Service and Executive Residence staff on additional leashing protocols and training, as well as establishing designated areas for Commander to run and exercise."

While Secret Service agents are not responsible for the handling of the first family's pets, they can come into frequent contact with the animals.

"This isn't a Secret Service thing. This is a this is a workplace safety issue," CNN contributor and former USSS agent Jonathan Wackrow told CNN.

"There's uniqueness here where it's the residence of the president of the United States, but it's also the workplace for hundreds, thousands of people. And you can't bring a hazard into the workplace. And that's what is essentially happening with this dog. One time you can say it's an accident, but now multiple incidents, it's a serious issue," he added.

Wackrow called it a "significant hazard" for agents on duty at the White House residence.

"I'm sure that the Bidens love the dog. I'm sure that it's a member of the family like every dog is, but you're creating a significant hazard to those who support you – support the office of the president," he said.

Afternoon Team

SOD has the D1 town Hall on 11/9 at HQ. Each section is required to put a list of accomplishments and challenges together for D1. I assume this will be consolidated by [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. Please solicit your team and provide any feedback on any accomplishments or challenges that you would like addressed in this meeting. Please have your responses to me NLT Thurs 8/5 so I have some time to put this together for the deadline.

Thank you in advance for your assistance. Contact me with any questions or concerns.

All the best

Subject: Requesting comment on Commander's 11 biting incidents
Date: Tuesday, October 3, 2023 9:26:38 AM

Hi, Gabriel Hays with Fox News Digital here! I'm looking for comment from the U.S. Secret Service on the biting incidents involving Biden's pure bred German Shepherd "Commander."

I recently did an interview with professional dog trainer Tom Davis, who has the most popular dog behavior podcast in the nation. He recently commented that a professional needs to observe Biden's dog ASAP and find solutions to its behavioral problems otherwise it will continue to "unravel" and at worst end up humanely euthanized. He volunteered himself to work with the dog if U.S. Secret Service would be willing.

Does the U.S. Secret Service have any comment on the situation with the dog after this latest incident? Also would the White House and Secret Service be willing to allow someone like Davis to come in and work with the animal to correct its behavior before it gets even worse?

Any comment would be appreciated! Thank you!

Hi Anthony,

I'm working on some follow up reporting on the Commander Biden biting situation and hoping for your insight on a few outstanding questions.

- Do you have an exact number you can share of how many biting incidents have occurred with Commander and USSS personnel? My understanding based on my reporting is that the number is significantly higher than 11. One source told me that they were told there were 34 different instances in a 90-day period this summer. Do you have an approximate ballpark of total incidents? More or less than 50? More or less than 100? 200?
- What do you say to your own USSS personnel who say that this is creating a "hostile" and "dangerous" work environment? Agents have been warning each other to go through certain entrances and avoid other areas to stay away from Commander – what's your response to that?
- Has the USSS raised this issue directly with the president or first lady?
- Have any of these bites been reported to the DC Health Department as outlined in DC code? (I understand the DC Council doesn't have jurisdiction over federal lands, but some experts argue the lack of federal guidance on these situations could lead to DC code applying.)
- Are you aware of any USSS involvement in instances beyond USSS, specifically residence staff? I'm hearing of biting situations with an engineer and with an usher. Anything else you can share on that?

Happy to speak on deep background if that's helpful. I can be reached at (b) (6) but will be out of pocket from 3-4 pm today.

Many thanks, again,
Betsy

 - No I don't think so – if somebody pushes
 - It's anecdotal, some are reported – no requirement of reporting
 - Our fear otr is we don't want to give a number that's too high or too low
 - I know there have been some residence staff bit **
 - Dozens  yes over a dozen – wish I had a range – anecdotal cases
 - Could tally up all the WHMO – typically supposed to go to WHMU if it warrants to get cleaned up but not everybody does – federal property
 - Judicial watch any email referencing dog bites – not the whole number
 - Seems really high – that's why when I saw I'm like wow I just feel like if it were that high we would've heard about it – not saying it cant we just don't have a great handle bc of the workplace injury
 - We're a pretty dog friendly agency – blessing the police K9s
 - Underreported - can check if they have a count –
 - Well over a dozen – exec residence staff nipped bit – including USSS exec res staff and other personnel
- What do you say to your own USSS personnel who say that this is creating a “hostile” and “dangerous” work environment? Agents have been warning each other to go through certain entrances and avoid other areas to stay away from Commander – what's your response to that?
 - (b) (7)(E) he has his own area he can run and yeah when he's out and about (b) (7)(E) (b) (7)(E)
 - Protocol is the ushers do leash him –
 - It is a workplace but it's also a residence – different than Pfizer global hq – I will check – if you're hearing that
 - Bit of a disconnect bt hq usss and in the field – idk – weren't tracking folks were concerned about workplace safety, that's an important issue – real and we should address that
- Has the USSS raised this issue directly with the president or first lady?
 - (b) (7)(E) . It's a difficult sit – a dog loving agency, nobody wants their employees – (b) (7)(E)

(b) (7)(E)

Karine referred questions to the First Lady's office, which I've reached out to, and to the USSS.

So I wanted to reach out to see if you had more info/comment.

Subject: Re: Commander incidents

One more thought for you – some sources have said that the entire situation belies a strained and “combustible” relationship between the Bidens and USSS, stemming from the Major situation but still challenging for other reasons. Some West Wing and East Wing staffers are blaming USSS (to other outlets) for their aggressive behavior around the dog. Let me know if you’d like to put anything on the record on those points.

Hi Anthony,

I'm working on some follow up reporting on the Commander Biden biting situation and hoping for your insight on a few outstanding questions.

- Do you have an exact number you can share of how many biting incidents have occurred with Commander and USSS personnel? My understanding based on my reporting is that the number is significantly higher than 11. One source told me that they were told there were 34 different instances in a 90-day period this summer. Do you have an approximate ballpark of total incidents? More or less than 50? More or less than 100? 200?
 - No I don't think so – if somebody pushes
 - It's anecdotal, some are reported – no requirement of reporting
 - Our fear otr is we don't want to give a number that's too high or too low
 - I know there have been some residence staff bit **
 - Dozens  yes over a dozen – wish I had a range – anecdotal cases
 - Could tally up all the WHMO – typically supposed to go to WHMU if it warrants to get cleaned up but not everybody does – federal property
 - Judicial watch any email referencing dog bites – not the whole number
 - Seems really high – that's why when I saw I'm like wow I just feel like if it were that high we would've heard about it – not saying it cant we just don't have a great handle bc of the workplace injury
 - We're a pretty dog friendly agency – blessing the police K9s
 - Underreported - can check if they have a count –
 - Well over a dozen – exec residence staff nipped bit – including USSS exec res staff and other personnel
- What do you say to your own USSS personnel who say that this is creating a "hostile" and “dangerous” work environment? Agents have been warning each other to go through certain entrances and avoid other areas to stay away from Commander – what’s your response to that?

- (b) (7)(E) he has his own area he can run and yeah when he’s out and about (b) (7)(E)
- Protocol is the ushers do leash him –
- It is a workplace but it’s also a residence – different than Pfizer global hq – I will check – if you’re hearing that
- Bit of a disconnect bt hq usss and in the field – idk – weren’t tracking folks were concerned about workplace safety, that’s an important issue – real and we should address that
- Has the USSS raised this issue directly with the president or first lady?
 - (b) (7)(E). It’s a difficult sit – a dog loving agency, nobody wants their employees – (b) (7)(E)
 - (b) (7)(E)
 - (b) (7)(E)
- Have any of these bites been reported to the DC Health Department as outlined in DC code? (I understand the DC Council doesn’t have jurisdiction over federal lands, but some experts argue the lack of federal guidance on these situations could lead to DC code applying.)
- Are you aware of any USSS involvement in instances beyond USSS, specifically residence staff? I’m hearing of biting situations with an engineer and with an usher. Anything else you can share on that?

Happy to speak on deep background if that’s helpful. I can be reached at (b) (6) but will be out of pocket from 3-4 pm today.

So I wanted to reach out to see if you had more info/comment.

Hello -- I'm a WSJ reporter and I'm just looking to get basic confirmation from the SS on the agency's awareness of a biting situation involving Commander, the Biden family dog and its agents. I'm writing a look back on other White House pets, but want to be sure I have the basic info on Commander correct. Can you confirm to me whatever the Secret Service has said on the record regarding the situation with Commander? I've seen reports of 11 confirmed bites of SS agents, but would prefer to have a number that comes directly from your agency as a primary source.

Thank you,
Ginger

Hi guys, how are you? This is Peter Baker at the NY Times. Sorry to bother on a Friday, but I'm writing a follow-up to the story about the White House sending Commander away after the latest incident. I saw Anthony's statement, but wanted to ask a few other questions:

- 1) We've been told that it's not just 11 incidents but actually "a couple dozen." Is that correct or anything like it?
- 2) We've been told that in at least one of the incidents, a Secret Service agent was bitten so severely that his tricep was almost torn off the tendon, blood was all over the floor and he ended up in the hospital. Is that correct?
- 3) We've been told that agents and officers were told there were areas of the residence off limits because of the dog, at least when the dog was present. Is that correct?

Thanks much,
Peter

All,

Be aware that the Biden's dog Commander has been transferred from the White house to either the Rehoboth or Wilmington residence.

He will be moved back and forth.

Commander has a history of biting personnel down at the White House.

For those who are working residence security, please keep an eye out for the dog.

Thanks,

How Biden's tension with Secret Service goes back to his VP years when he skinny-dipped in front of female agents—and the dog biting has just made things worse

Tensions have risen between Biden and his Secret Service detail
Dog biting incidents and constant schedule changes to blame
Secret Service tells DailyMail.com there are no issues

DailyMail.com—October 8, 2023

By EMILY GOODIN, SENIOR U.S. POLITICAL REPORTER

Joe Biden's tension with his Secret Service detail goes back to his years as vice president when he made female agents uncomfortable by skinny-dipping in front of them but it's gotten worse during his White House years after his German Shepherds bit several agents.

Biden's new two-year-old dog Commander has bitten at least a dozen agents plus people who work in the White House residence, requiring some to get medical attention. And the first couple's former dog Major was so aggressive and prone to biting that he was rehomed to friends in Delaware.

'It's outrageous, just outrageous for those agents who risk their lives every day to protect the president,' Ronald Kessler, the author of several books on the Secret Service, told DailyMail.com. 'They never know when they're gonna get shot and they have to put up with the fear of being bitten by a dog. It's just unthinkable that it went on this long.'

Commander has been moved off campus, living at an undisclosed location. Earlier, DailyMail.com published exclusive photos showing the dog biting the superintendent of the White House grounds on September 13.

The Bidens' relationship with the Secret Service is now 'combustible,' a source told CNN, citing the tensions with the first pets, constant schedule changes and other issues.

The Secret Service denied there were any problems.

'On this I can say with firsthand knowledge that it is categorically false. There is an immense degree of trust and respect between the Secret Service and the first family and we know those feelings are mutual,' Secret Service spokesman Anthony Guglielmi told DailyMail.com in a statement.

The Bidens were also said to be suspicious of their agents, many of whom they suspected supported Donald Trump.

The tensions are said to have started during Biden's time as vice president, and to have continued in his early days in the White House.

'Agents say that, whether at the vice president's residence or at his home in Delaware, Biden has a habit of swimming in his pool nude,'

Kessler wrote in his book, The First Family Detail: Secret Service Agents Reveal the Hidden Lives of the Presidents.

'Female Secret Service agents find that offensive,' he noted.

Kessler also outlined the agents' frustration with Biden's constantly-changing schedule and frequent trips to his home in Wilmington, Delaware.

'He would never give agents any kind of pre-warning of what his schedule was going to be,' Kessler told DailyMail.com. 'He would just, on the spur of the moment, decide to go back to Wilmington, frequently, more than once a week. And so they could never plan their lives. They could never set up a social occasion.'

He noted agents considered Biden duty the 'second worst assignment.' The top spot went to being on Hillary Clinton's detail.

The mistrust goes both ways.

The Bidens were also said to be suspicious of their agents, many of whom they suspected supported Donald Trump.

A level of trust is important, given the close quarters. Agents shadow the first couple wherever they go, often overhearing private conversations and witnessing private moments.

'It seems to me that it's critical,' Christopher Whipple, author of The Fight for His Life: Inside Joe Biden's White House, told DailyMail.com. 'For the most obvious reasons that the President's safety depends upon it.'

'But I think I think he also has a right to assume that the Secret Service check their politics at the door and that he can have confidential conversations without worrying about whether there's a MAGA sympathizer that will report that to someone else.'

The Bidens aren't the first presidential couple to worry about the agents' political ties. The Clintons were worried their detail were still loyal to George W. Bush and his family.

Additionally, adjusting to the fishbowl life in the White House - where agents and staff are around 24/7 - can be difficult for every first couple. Even Melania Trump, who had a large staff and private security when she lived at Trump Tower, was said to find life in the White House stifling.

But the recent spate of dog bites have ratcheted up the tension.

Commander was a birthday gift to the president from James and Sara Biden, his brother and sister-in-law, and first came to the White House on December 20, 2021.

The pet's biting record was released in July when a conservative group used a Freedom of Information Act request to obtain emails from Secret Service officials.

It was revealed the 2-year-old German Shepherd has bitten at least a dozen Secret Service agents. Later reports found he also went after staff in the residence.

And the Bidens' earlier dog Major was so aggressive that residence officials warned Jill Biden's office the Bidens could face a lawsuit for injuries unless there were changes, Axios reported.

Major was eventually given to Biden friends in Delaware.

When at the White House, Commander lives upstairs with the first couple. Jill Biden walks him in the mornings and when she is at home. Otherwise Dale Haney, the longtime groundskeeper takes him out, or residence staff do so.

German shepherds can be aggressive and are known to defend those they consider family.

The Biden administration has defended the dog. Jill Biden's office has noted that the White House 'can be a stressful environment for family pets, and the First Family continues to work on ways to help Commander handle the often unpredictable nature of the White House grounds.'

But a former White House official who regularly interacted with both Commander and Major told Axios: 'The first family and their inner circle refuse to engage in any problem-solving discussions to protect the agents and [Executive Residence] staff.'

'The ongoing discipline issue of the Biden dogs is in no way a Secret Service

problem. The agency is just trying to protect their own agents from these animals who do have violent behaviors.'

President Joe Biden had entered the White House with two German Shepherds, Champ ¿ who died in 2021 ¿ and Major who was removed that year

The incident, which was unwittingly captured on camera by a tourist snapping photos on September 13, shows the two-year-old German Shepherd sinking its teeth into the groundskeeper Dale Haney's left arm

The White House has claimed that 'everyone loves' Commander.

White House press secretary Karine Jean-Pierre said Thursday that she has never felt threatened by the dog.

'I've seen Commander many times. I was never worried. And I've never been bitten by Commander,' she said.

'As it relates to me, I was never wary of Commander. I've seen him many, many times. And so I can only speak for myself though, and I can't speak to anything else outside of that,' she added.

White House officials said the Bidens were working through new training for Commander.

Hi there,

CNN reported on Tuesday that Joe Biden's dog Commander bit a Secret Service agent—the eleventh reported incident involving the pet. I wondered if the Secret Service could confirm this was the case and provide any statement on the matter.

The news has prompted seemingly unfounded speculation on social media that it was responding to canine intuition about the agency's loyalties to the president. Some prominent social media users referenced the deletion of agents' texts from the time of the January 6 uprising, while (b)(6); a political commentator and Democratic advisor, appeared to allege that the dog was going after "J6 insurrectionists." I also wanted to give the agency the opportunity to comment on these remarks.

Kind regards,
Aleks

Commander Biden bites another Secret Service agent, the 11th known incident

By Betsy Klein, CNN, 09.26.23

Jo

CNN —

President Joe Biden's younger dog, Commander, bit another US Secret Service agent at the White House Monday evening, CNN has learned, the 11th known biting incident involving the 2-year-old German Shepherd.

"Yesterday around 8 p.m., a Secret Service Uniformed Division police officer came in contact with a First Family pet and was bitten. The officer was treated by medical personnel on complex," USSS chief of communications Anthony Guglielmi told CNN in a statement.

The injured officer spoke with Secret Service Director Kimberly Cheatle on Tuesday and is doing OK, Guglielmi said.

Commander has been involved in at least 11 biting incidents at the White House and in Delaware, according to CNN reporting and US Secret Service email correspondence, including a November 2022 incident where an officer was hospitalized after the dog clamped down on their arms and thighs.

White House officials said in July that the Bidens were working through new training and leashing protocols for the family pet following the incidents.

The office of the first lady did not immediately respond to CNN's request for comment Tuesday on whether that training had taken place or if any further action would be sought.

Another of Biden's dogs, Major, was involved in biting incidents at the White House. The German Shepherd later moved out of the White House, and Commander arrived at the White House in 2021.

The July email correspondence, obtained through Freedom of Information Act requests by the conservative group Judicial Watch, reflected 10 incidents.

In one incident in October, first lady Dr. Jill Biden "couldn't regain control" of the dog as it charged a member of Secret Service staff.

"I believe it's only a matter of time before an agent/officer is attacked or bit," the staff member warned in an email.

Elizabeth Alexander, communications director for the first lady, said at the time that the first family has been "partnering with the Secret Service and Executive Residence staff on additional leashing protocols and training, as well as establishing designated areas for Commander to run and exercise."

While Secret Service agents are not responsible for the handling of the first family's pets, they can come into frequent contact with the animals.

"This isn't a Secret Service thing. This is a this is a workplace safety issue," CNN contributor and former USSS agent Jonathan Wackrow told CNN.

"There's uniqueness here where it's the residence of the president of the United States, but it's also the workplace for hundreds, thousands of people. And you can't bring a hazard into the workplace. And that's what is essentially happening with this dog. One time you can say it's an accident, but now multiple incidents, it's a serious issue," he added.

Wackrow called it a "significant hazard" for agents on duty at the White House residence.

"I'm sure that the Bidens love the dog. I'm sure that it's a member of the family like every dog is, but you're creating a significant hazard to those who support you – support the office of the president," he said.

All,

Be aware that the Biden's dog Commander has been transferred from the White house to either the Rehoboth or Wilmington residence.

He will be moved back and forth.

Commander has a history of biting personnel down at the White House.

For those who are working residence security, please keep an eye out for the dog.

Thanks,

By EMILY GOODIN, SENIOR U.S. POLITICAL REPORTER

Joe Biden's tension with his Secret Service detail goes back to his years as vice president when he made female agents uncomfortable by skinny-dipping in front of them but it's gotten worse during his White House years after his German Shepherds bit several agents.

Biden's new two-year-old dog Commander has bitten at least a dozen agents plus people who work in the White House residence, requiring some to get medical attention. And the first couple's former dog Major was so aggressive and prone to biting that he was rehomed to friends in Delaware.

'It's outrageous, just outrageous for those agents who risk their lives every day to protect the president,' Ronald Kessler, the author of several books on the Secret Service, told DailyMail.com. 'They never know when they're gonna get shot and they have to put up with the fear of being bitten by a dog. It's just unthinkable that it went on this long.'

Commander has been moved off campus, living at an undisclosed location. Earlier, DailyMail.com published exclusive photos showing the dog biting the superintendent of the White House grounds on September 13.

The Bidens' relationship with the Secret Service is now 'combustible,' a source told CNN, citing the tensions with the first pets, constant schedule changes and other issues.

The Secret Service denied there were any problems.

'On this I can say with firsthand knowledge that it is categorically false. There is an immense degree of trust and respect between the Secret Service and the first family and we know those feelings are mutual,' Secret Service spokesman Anthony Guglielmi told DailyMail.com in a statement.

The Bidens were also said to be suspicious of their agents, many of whom they suspected supported Donald Trump.

The tensions are said to have started during Biden's time as vice president, and to have continued in his early days in the White House.

'Agents say that, whether at the vice president's residence or at his home in Delaware, Biden has a habit of swimming in his pool nude,'

Kessler wrote in his book, The First Family Detail: Secret Service Agents Reveal the Hidden Lives of the Presidents.

'Female Secret Service agents find that offensive,' he noted.

Kessler also outlined the agents' frustration with Biden's constantly-changing schedule and frequent trips to his home in Wilmington, Delaware.

'He would never give agents any kind of pre-warning of what his schedule was going to be,' Kessler told DailyMail.com. 'He would just, on the spur of the moment, decide to go back to Wilmington, frequently, more than once a week. And so they could never plan their lives. They could never set up a social occasion.'

He noted agents considered Biden duty the 'second worst assignment.' The top spot went to being on Hillary Clinton's detail.

The mistrust goes both ways.

The Bidens were also said to be suspicious of their agents, many of whom they suspected supported Donald Trump.

A level of trust is important, given the close quarters. Agents shadow the first couple wherever they go, often overhearing private conversations and witnessing private moments.

'It seems to me that it's critical,' Christopher Whipple, author of The Fight for His Life: Inside Joe Biden's White House, told DailyMail.com. 'For the most obvious reasons that the President's safety depends upon it.'

'But I think I think he also has a right to assume that the Secret Service check their politics at the door and that he can have confidential conversations without worrying about whether there's a MAGA sympathizer that will report that to someone else.'

The Bidens aren't the first presidential couple to worry about the agents' political ties. The Clintons were worried their detail were still loyal to George W. Bush and his family.

Additionally, adjusting to the fishbowl life in the White House - where agents and staff are around 24/7 - can be difficult for every first couple. Even Melania Trump, who had a large staff and private security when she lived at Trump Tower, was said to find life in the White House stifling.

But the recent spate of dog bites have ratcheted up the tension.

Commander was a birthday gift to the president from James and Sara Biden, his brother and sister-in-law, and first came to the White House on December 20, 2021.

The pet's biting record was released in July when a conservative group used a Freedom of Information Act request to obtain emails from Secret Service officials.

It was revealed the 2-year-old German Shepherd has bitten at least a dozen Secret Service agents. Later reports found he also went after staff in the residence.

And the Bidens' earlier dog Major was so aggressive that residence officials warned Jill Biden's office the Bidens could face a lawsuit for injuries unless there were changes, Axios reported.

Major was eventually given to Biden friends in Delaware.

When at the White House, Commander lives upstairs with the first couple. Jill Biden walks him in the mornings and when she is at home. Otherwise Dale Haney, the longtime groundskeeper takes him out, or residence staff do so.

German shepherds can be aggressive and are known to defend those they consider family.

The Biden administration has defended the dog. Jill Biden's office has noted that the White House 'can be a stressful environment for family pets, and the First Family continues to work on ways to help Commander handle the often unpredictable nature of the White House grounds.'

But a former White House official who regularly interacted with both Commander and Major told Axios: 'The first family and their inner circle refuse to engage in any problem-solving discussions to protect the agents and [Executive Residence] staff.'

'The ongoing discipline issue of the Biden dogs is in no way a Secret Service

problem. The agency is just trying to protect their own agents from these animals who do have violent behaviors.'

President Joe Biden had entered the White House with two German Shepherds, Champ ¿ who died in 2021 ¿ and Major who was removed that year

The incident, which was unwittingly captured on camera by a tourist snapping photos on September 13, shows the two-year-old German Shepherd sinking its teeth into the groundskeeper Dale Haney's left arm

The White House has claimed that 'everyone loves' Commander.

White House press secretary Karine Jean-Pierre said Thursday that she has never felt threatened by the dog.

'I've seen Commander many times. I was never worried. And I've never been bitten by Commander,' she said.

'As it relates to me, I was never wary of Commander. I've seen him many, many times. And so I can only speak for myself though, and I can't speak to anything else outside of that,' she added.

White House officials said the Bidens were working through new training for Commander.

Hi guys, how are you? This is Peter Baker at the NY Times. Sorry to bother on a Friday, but I'm writing a follow-up to the story about the White House sending Commander away after the latest incident. I saw Anthony's statement, but wanted to ask a few other questions:

- 1) We've been told that it's not just 11 incidents but actually "a couple dozen." Is that correct or anything like it?
- 2) We've been told that in at least one of the incidents, a Secret Service agent was bitten so severely that his tricep was almost torn off the tendon, blood was all over the floor and he ended up in the hospital. Is that correct?
- 3) We've been told that agents and officers were told there were areas of the residence off limits because of the dog, at least when the dog was present. Is that correct?

Thanks much,
Peter

Hi Anthony,

I'm working on some follow up reporting on the Commander Biden biting situation and hoping for your insight on a few outstanding questions.

- Do you have an exact number you can share of how many biting incidents have occurred with Commander and USSS personnel? My understanding based on my reporting is that the number is significantly higher than 11. One source told me that they were told there were 34 different instances in a 90-day period this summer. Do you have an approximate ballpark of total incidents? More or less than 50? More or less than 100? 200?
- What do you say to your own USSS personnel who say that this is creating a "hostile" and "dangerous" work environment? Agents have been warning each other to go through certain entrances and avoid other areas to stay away from Commander – what's your response to that?
- Has the USSS raised this issue directly with the president or first lady?
- Have any of these bites been reported to the DC Health Department as outlined in DC code? (I understand the DC Council doesn't have jurisdiction over federal lands, but some experts argue the lack of federal guidance on these situations could lead to DC code applying.)
- Are you aware of any USSS involvement in instances beyond USSS, specifically residence staff? I'm hearing of biting situations with an engineer and with an usher. Anything else you can share on that?

Happy to speak on deep background if that's helpful. I can be reached at (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) but will be out of pocket from 3-4 pm today.

Many thanks, again,
Betsy

Hi, Gabriel Hays with Fox News Digital here! I'm looking for comment from the U.S. Secret Service on the biting incidents involving Biden's pure bred German Shepherd "Commander."

I recently did an interview with professional dog trainer Tom Davis, who has the most popular dog behavior podcast in the nation. He recently commented that a professional needs to observe Biden's dog ASAP and find solutions to its behavioral problems otherwise it will continue to "unravel" and at worst end up humanely euthanized. He volunteered himself to work with the dog if U.S. Secret Service would be willing.

Does the U.S. Secret Service have any comment on the situation with the dog after this latest incident? Also would the White House and Secret Service be willing to allow someone like Davis to come in and work with the animal to correct its behavior before it gets even worse?

Any comment would be appreciated! Thank you!

Hello -- I'm a WSJ reporter and I'm just looking to get basic confirmation from the SS on the agency's awareness of a biting situation involving Commander, the Biden family dog and its agents. I'm writing a look back on other White House pets, but want to be sure I have the basic info on Commander correct. Can you confirm to me whatever the Secret Service has said on the record regarding the situation with Commander? I've seen reports of 11 confirmed bites of SS agents, but would prefer to have a number that comes directly from your agency as a primary source.

Thank you,

The Bidens' other German Shepherd, Major, also bit Secret Service, White House staff and a National Park Service employee shortly after the president took office. Despite training and time for "Major to adjust to his new surroundings," according to the White House, he was sent back to Delaware to live with friends.

Commander arrived at the White House as a gift from family in December 2021, after Major moved out.

The Bidens' other German Shepherd Champ -- who passed away six months earlier at the age of 13 -- was not involved in any biting incidents.

According to Judicial Watch, Secret service records reveal 10 attacks -- before Monday's incident -- by Commander over a four-month period between October 2022 and January. Judicial Watch forced the release of the records through a Freedom of Information Act lawsuit, regarding "incidents of aggression and bites involving the Biden family dog, Commander."

In October, a Secret Service agent warned colleagues about Commander in an email.

"Commander has been exhibiting extremely aggressive behavior. Today, while posted, he came charging at me. The first lady couldn't regain control of Commander and he continued to circle me. I believe it's only a matter of time before an agent/officer is attacked or bit," the agent wrote on Oct. 26.

One week later, an agent was transported to the hospital after Commander bit him in the upper right arm and on the thigh. The officer was placed on "restricted duty status" for three days on doctors' advice.

In December, a Secret Service agent said he was attacked on the South Lawn of the White House after President Biden let Commander off his leash.

"The injuries included a bite to the left forearm, resulting in bruising, and approximately a 1.5 cm cut and a bite to the right hand on the thumb resulting in a 1 cm cut. I received treatment from White House Medical," the agent said before returning to work the rest of his shift.

Dear all,

According to media reports, President Biden's dog, Commander, bit another Secret Service agent at the White House on Monday. Could you confirm it?

Hi Anthony,

I wanted to let you know that I just submitted a FOIA for a memo that I understand was written by an agent about 37 biting incidents combined between Commander and Major. I'm not sure if that is something you have and could share with me, in which case I could retract my request for the record, but I wanted to let you know either way.

PS- I'm moving from our White House to Campaign teams at the Post so you will likely hear from me less often, but it has been great to work with you for the short time I was covering the WH. Thanks for your help with everything.

Subject: Commander incidents

Hi Anthony,

I'm working on some follow up reporting on the Commander Biden biting situation and hoping for your insight on a few outstanding questions.

- Do you have an exact number you can share of how many biting incidents have occurred with Commander and USSS personnel? My understanding based on my reporting is that the number is significantly higher than 11. One source told me that they were told there were 34 different instances in a 90-day period this summer. Do you have an approximate ballpark of total incidents? More or less than 50? More or less than 100? 200?
- What do you say to your own USSS personnel who say that this is creating a "hostile" and "dangerous" work environment? Agents have been warning each other to go through certain entrances and avoid other areas to stay away from Commander – what's your response to that?
- Has the USSS raised this issue directly with the president or first lady?
- Have any of these bites been reported to the DC Health Department as outlined in DC code? (I understand the DC Council doesn't have jurisdiction over federal lands, but some experts argue the lack of federal guidance on these situations could lead to DC code applying.)
- Are you aware of any USSS involvement in instances beyond USSS, specifically residence staff? I'm hearing of biting situations with an engineer and with an usher. Anything else you can share on that?

Happy to speak on deep background if that's helpful. I can be reached at (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) but will be out of pocket from 3-4 pm today.

Many thanks, again,
Betsy

Ok. Thank you. So just to be 100% clear, Commander has bitten or nipped some SS agents, to the agency's knowledge? But exact number not known. Is that accurate as stated?
Thanks.

Hello -- I'm a WSJ reporter and I'm just looking to get basic confirmation from the SS on the agency's awareness of a biting situation involving Commander, the Biden family dog and its agents. I'm writing a look back on other White House pets, but want to be sure I have the basic info on Commander correct. Can you confirm to me whatever the Secret Service has said on the record regarding the situation with Commander? I've seen reports of 11 confirmed bites of SS agents, but would prefer to have a number that comes directly from your agency as a primary source.

Thank you,
Ginger

Hi there,

Hope you're well! We're looking for a statement and/or comment regarding President Biden's dog, Commander, biting a US Secret Service agent at the White House Monday.

Additionally, can you confirm that Commander has been involved in at least 11 biting incidents at the White House and in Delaware?

Thank you!
